A Message from the Director:

While the Friends have had a busy 2009 raising funds for the purchase of the Otter Cove parcel (see Fall 09 newsletter for details), it occurred to me that folks may want to know more details about what exactly the Center does and where your support goes. At the Dyken Pond Center, there are a total of 594 acres of property open to public access. Of this total, Rensselaer County owns 228 acres of land and 180 acres of surface water. The remaining 186 acres is conservation land, allowing public use through conservation easements and is used by the Center for trails and educational programs. Out of this conservation land, 86 acres is in private ownership and 100 acres is owned by the Friends of the Dyken Pond Center.

Dyken Pond Center's primary mission is to provide outdoor educational programs to people of all ages. We have a strong emphasis on providing programs for youth and their families. In 2009, the Center served 4,131 students in a total of 209 scheduled programs:

In addition to our scheduled programs, we have about 15,000 visitors use the Center every year for fishing, hiking, bird watching, snowshoeing, cross-country skiing, paddling and nature study. We promote outdoor education by having equipment rentals available to the public including snowshoes, canoes, kayaks, GPS units and Lessons in a Backpack (check the website for a complete list). We have a lending library for teachers and youth educators. They can borrow curriculum guides, lesson materials and books. Center staff also work behind the scenes promoting environmental education. Our latest project is to work with the New York Outdoor Education Association to promote an Environmental Literacy Plan for all schools in New York State.

I couldn't do half of what we do at the Center without the Friends support. I am so pleased to work with the Board on what we all think is so important: Getting people to enjoy the outdoors! Together, the Friends and the Center will continue to offer different ways to teach people to care for the natural world. As a Friends member and/or Otter Cove donor, your contributions support not just land protection, but support all of these great programs and help make all of this possible.

Good Memories

My first public event at Dyken Pond Center was the Yule Log event in December 1991. A friend and I took our kids out on a snowy day and participated in a fun time around the bon fire. I think my children, Jeff and Kim were ages 6 and 5! I came home and immediately mailed a check to join the Friends of Dyken Pond. I have been going back every year since and I don't recall ever missing a year.

The next spring I went to a board meeting of the fledgling Friends of Dyken Pond group and was asked and decided to join the board of directors. Over the years I helped plan and participated in many events and have many great memories. There were trail walks when I first got to see and then hold a red eft, bird programs when I heard my first barred owl and Spring wildflower programs where I got to see trout lilies and trillium. I also paddled for the first time in a kayak, something I still love to do. So many good times.

There was the year we and hurricane Bertha move the event. There tive robin who kept because the owl and threatening to its nest. a perfect summer eve-amphitheater. There and snow and a gorgeous a cup of hot chocolate. dragonflies and frogs and who caught them. So recall her and I dreaming and thinking and planning every aspect of the 3 week youth program. It seemed like such a huge challenge but it all worked out. It is still going strong after 16 years and is a successful program year after year. I am proud of that!

As a board member and former treasurer, I have met so many of the nice people who visit the Center and who are members. I have watched the Friends group grow from infancy to a group that gets recognition from the County executive. We are land owners now and we are making a difference. I have worked with long term board members who I will remember for many years to come.

I have now officially resigned from the board. It is time for other things and to visit the Center as a participant and keep making more memories. My last official event was of course, the Yule log!

Thanks for all the fun times and I'll see you on the trail....
